

Honeywell Product Notification

HONEYWELL SAFETY AND PRODUCTIVITY SOLUTIONS

Date: May 19, 2023
To: Honeywell Fall Protection PPE Customers
Subject line: FINAL REIMINDER - Your Response Requested: Stop Use Notice for Honeywell Miller Stainless Steel Falcon Edge SRL

Dear Customers,

In April 2022, Honeywell Personal Protective Equipment sent out a Mandatory Stop Use Notice for the Falcon Leading Edge Stainless Steel Self-Retracting Lifeline, as use of the following product could result in serious injury or death:

1034056 FALCON EDGE 6.2m SS 2.Twist 2.Swivel FI
1034057 FALCON EDGE 9m SS 2.Twist 2.Swivel FI
1034058 FALCON EDGE 15m SS 2.Twist 2.Swivel FI
1034059 FALCON EDGE 18m SS 2.Twist 2.Swivel FI

Because customer safety is our top priority, we are sending out this reminder to verify that you have

1) stopped use of this product and

2) provided proof of destruction by following the steps on the stop use website linked here. Providing proof of destruction will minimize unsafe products in circulation and help to ensure worker safety.

Please respond to this email indicating that you have stopped use of the Falcon Leading Edge Stainless Steel Self-Retracting Lifeline and that you have already, or currently are, completing the proof of destruction steps on the stop use website. If you had previously removed/retired the impacted units from service, and therefore will not be submitting proof of destruction, please reply to let us know.

Additional instructions for Honeywell partners/distributors in line with the original Mandatory Stop Use Notice:

- Please immediately forward this safety notice to any of your customers/end-users who have purchased these products with an urgent request that they read and comply with above instructions.
- Please ensure that your customers forward this safety information to their customers.
- Please provide proof of destruction as outlined in the stop use website, linked above, to Honeywell and initiate credit proceedings on any impacted products sold to you – including impacted parts that you in turn sold to a customer/end-user. Your customers/end-users shall not directly contact Honeywell and you will be responsible for crediting them.
